About Bareilly

Bareilly city is worldwide known for its cane and wood furniture creations as well as the finest work of embroidery, locally named as Zariworks. It is situated between the capital of U.P. Lucknow and the National Capital of the country -Delhi. Bareilly is also the prime gateway to the beautiful state of Uttarakhand. According to epic Mahabharata, Bareilly region (Panchala) is said to be birthplace of Draupadi. This city was established in middle of 16th century and ruled basically by Rohila Sardars who were highly patriotic, so the region was named Rohilkhand. Internationally, this city is a grand example of communal harmony as it has the ancient shiv peeths of Hinduism as well as the well known Dargahs of Muslim Community. Here lies the oldest higher education Institute, the Bareilly College founded in 1837 and IVRI, the biggest Institute of Veterinary Sciences in Asia. The city of Bareilly has been nodal point in India's freedom struggle with the students as well as teachers of Bareilly College played a vital role. The first Kaala Paani punishment was given to Maulavi Qutub Shah, who was a teacher of Farsi in this college. We all welcome you heartily to the city of Zari and Surma.

About The Conference

The journey of e-Governance initiatives in India took a broader dimension in mid 90s for wider sectoral applications with emphasis on citizen-centric, educational and dimension services. Later on, many States/UTs started various e-Governance projects. Though these e-Governance projects were citizen-centric, they could make lesser than the desired impact. Government of India launched National e-Governance Plan (NeGP) in 2006. 31 Mission Mode Projects covering various domains were initiated. Despite the successful implementation of many e-Governance projects across the country, e-Governance as a whole has not been able to make the desired impact and fulfill all its objectives. It has been felt that a lot more thrust is required to ensure e-Governance in the country promote inclusive growth that covers electronic services, products, devices, and education and job opportunities. Moreover, electronic manufacturing in the country needs to be strengthened. In order to transform the entire ecosystem of public services through the use of information technology, the Government of India has launched the Digital India programme with the vision to transform India into a digitally empowered society and scientific knowledge based economy. The objective of the conference is to explore the transformation due to digitalization in different public and private sector and to address several domains coming under its purview; while embracing and enabling digital technologies, annotation and people assets business growth and sustain ability. The seminar intends to envision the role and integration of digital technologies in transforming India into a digitally empowered society and scientific knowledge based economy in India and global perspective.
